

Dr Marzia Bolpagni,
Senior Advisor, Mace

Marzia works as Senior Advisor on Digital Construction at Mace in London where she develops and implements digital construction solutions for public and private international clients. She is glad to be a member of the BIM Excellence Initiative, Assistant Editor of the BIM Dictionary where she coordinates more than 100 volunteers from 23 countries, Ambassador of the UK BIM Alliance and Expert at the European Committee for Standardisation (CEN) TC 442 where she chairs a Task Group on information requirements standardisation (Level of Information Need) with experts from 15 countries. She is also founder of Italians in Digital Transformation UK, she loves sharing her knowledge with students and she is often invited as keynote speaker at academic and industrial events. In 2017 she received the 'Woman Ingenious' award for her work at the international level and in 2019 she has been nominated finalist for Women in Construction and Engineering Awards as Best Woman in Digital Innovation and her company assigned her the Star Award for Innovation and Service Excellence. She has also been part of the team that received the Building Awards for the Best BIM & Digital Initiative of the Year.